

Quantity Surveyor

About the role

Our client is an Oamaru based residential construction company who have experienced rapid and continued growth. They develop their own subdivisions, so they have a sustainable and long range projection of forward work, so this is an opportunity to really make your mark on the companies processes and management.

Initially the Quantity Surveyor will be heading the division, with one Jnr QS reporting within the first year, but this is expected to develop quickly over the first 5 years, developing into a management position with a larger team.

You will be;

- Working autonomously and taking charge of the QS/Estimation for all subdivisions, houses
- Setting up Systems and Processes to ensure efficiency targets are met and prepare for expansion
- Liaising with Management, construction and sub contractor teams
- Overseeing all elements of estimation including full take-offs and pricing of plans, purchase orders, pricing and preparing client variations and back-costing

RECRUITMENT

Skills and experience

You will need to have;

- Circa 5 years experience in the NZ market
- Excellent computer skills and proficiency with Microsoft Office Suite
- Excellent communication skills - written and verbal
- Outstanding customer service skills
- Ability to prioritise and be proactive in a fast paced environment
- A tertiary qualification in Quantity Surveying or equivalent degree
- Ability to read plans and knowledge of the NZ building codes

What you can expect

$80k - $100k depending on experience. This is a great opportunity for someone looking to build on their career with a very rewarding company who like to up-skill and promote within their business. The expectation of growth for this role is only headed one way - UP
